This Volume contains full abstracts of 695 original Wills, Administration Acts, Tutions, and Bonds arranged alphabetically, and 97 Marriage Licences and Bonds printed in chronological order, all copied from original documents belonging to the Peculiar Court of Selby.

The earliest will is dated 1634, and is the only one belonging to that year, but there is no statement as to when it was proved. The remainder cover the years 1635-1710 inclusive, with the exception of those between 1640-49, for which period apparently no documents exist. The Marriage Bonds and Licences run from 1664 to 1726.

The Wills are, principally, those of Tradesmen or Agriculturists, but among them are some belonging to the Resident Gentry. Their value is enhanced by the fact that they were copied from original and unregistered documents, which, when copied, were in private hands, and therefore more subject to loss or destruction and to decay, this in many instances has already set in, than if deposited in one of the Registries. The Inventories are of much interest, particularly those of tradesmen's effects, two or three of these have been printed in full ; only the more interesting portions of others are given, and, to avoid repetition, in certain cases the total value of the effects only was copied. Many Inventories occur without either a Will or an Administration Act belonging to them.

These documents were intrusted to me by the late Mr. W. W. Morrell of York, who, I understood, was hoping to write a history of Selby, a town in which he was much interested, or enlarge one previously written, I do not know how they came into his possession, but as he had handed them over to the late Canon James Raine, along with a number of Manor Court Rolls and Deeds relating to the Manor of Selby, it is probable that they were lent to him by the Lord of the Manor. Mr. Morrell was hoping, I believe, to obtain some assistance from Canon Raine, which, owing to his untimely death, he did not receive. The Wills, etc., were then, as stated above, handed to me and arranged in alphabetical order before the abstracts were made, so that they might be more conveniently referred to by Mr. Morrell in his researches. It was understood between us that my abstracts should eventually be returned to me when his work was completed, which I believe never happened. His son, however, was good enough to return them shortly after his father's death.

Since this went to the press I have been informed that the Selby Peculiar Wills, etc., were deposited in the District Probate Registry, York, by the Earl of Londesborough, who is Lord of the Manor, in 1908.
